Why do they matter?

Because when your Girl Scout has learned these skills, she'll be poised for success in her career. Think about it:

When employers interview job candidates, they all look for the same things. This is true whether the employer is a bank, high-tech company, university, hospital, publishing house, car dealership, accounting firm—or even the local pet store! They want:

Someone who can set goals and meet deadlines.

Blowing a deadline can mean blowing a deal!

Someone who works well with others.

Who wants to deal with strife and complaining in the workplace? Not the boss!

Someone who understands customers.

It doesn't matter whether the "customers" are hospital patients, TV viewers, or other companies—every business has to know its customers and what they want.

Someone who can influence others.

This doesn't just mean selling a product. Employers want people who can sell ideas, pitch projects, and make deals.

Someone who is honest, trustworthy, and reliable.

This kind of goes without saying—or it should!
